

Message from SIRIUS 26.01 2022

The beginning is the end, the end is the beginning.

We greet you children of light. You all feel the shift occurring, in your body, mind and spirit, for you are all advancing on your journey towards the realm where all life may express itself in freedom.

We bring you this important message so you may reflect on the events that are occurring in your own life, for what is occurring to humanity as a whole, is merely a grander expression of that which plays out in each and every one of you.

The time of illusions is at its end. An opportunity arises for all children of Gaia to reflect and to see what has happened so far in their lives.

You have been living many lives here on this world, and even though some of you are newcomers, you have inherited much generational Karma by being born in specific family lineages.

All of these experiences are coming together now.

All is coming to the forefront, so you may reflect on what you have experienced so far.

Winter is the time of introspection, regeneration, and reflection, so when the time of renewal arrives you may utilize that beautiful energy to its fullest.

Take time to rest and to be alone. Turn off all distractions, lock yourself away from the illusory world, and just be with yourself.

See who you are, and reflect on all that which brought you to this point.

You are at the precipice of a new cycle, but in order to fully embrace this new energy, first you must let go of all the things that don't serve you any longer.

Many of you may focus merely on the events that have caused you discomfort, circumstances that to all appearances prevented you from reaching your goal. Some of you may think that your life is full of failures, for you haven't lived the life that you always dreamed of.

Now we would like to shift the energy around the word failure; for in truth, there is no such thing.

Planet Earth has been created to be a dense environment, where you can experience the darkest of things; loss, sadness, desperation, for there are no such things in the higher spheres.

You have all come in to this life in order to experience these dense emotions. Each experience teaches you valuable lessons on who you are, and what can be learned.

From the perspective of your Higher Self, you may see yourself staying here on Earth as a service that you are providing to the planet and all her children out of pure unconditional love.

You have brought in your higher vibrational essence in this dense environment in order to uplift it. Just by your mere presence you are transforming the whole collective of humanity, giving an opportunity to all life to grow and to expand.

For thousands of years, Earth has continually experienced the same karmic patterns.

Everyone here was stuck in the endlessly revolving wheel, repeating old patterns over and over again, never seeing the end of it.

By coming here, you have broken this meticulously calibrated wheel, you have unbalanced it, and now everything is being re-calibrated so Earth once more can evolve, and now all of her children can reach the next step in their evolution.

All the of souls that have been stuck in the Karmic loop have the opportunity, now, to release the old patterns, and to truly rest so healing may take place at long last.

When they have healed and reflected on that which they were a part of, they will all move on in perfect harmony, to continue their path of self exploration, giving more space for new and awakened souls.

Now that your Realm is moving toward the higher dimensions, new souls will want to come in, to enrich this world with their knowledge and skills.

You are also part of this influx of new energy, forming a bridge between the old and the new.

We greet you in the light of the Sun,
A'ho
